

UCSF Clinical Trials Day 2017

University of California
San Francisco

Clinical Trials Day is celebrated all over the world around May 20th in order to commemorate the day that James Lind started what is considered the first randomized clinical trial to treat scurvy aboard a ship on May 20, 1747.

Celebrate Clinical Research Coordinators at UCSF!

Join us early to pick up your UCSF canvas tote stuffed with useful items (available for the first 125 attendees). These events open to all CRCs and clinical research support staff.

Light refreshments will be provided.
There will be a raffle!

Two campus events:
2pm-4pm

Mission Bay,
Oberndorf Auditorium,
Monday, May 15th
and Parnassus,
Millberry Union,
Tuesday, May 16th

Participating UCSF Clinical Research Partners: APeX, CGA, CRC Council, CRRM, CRS, CTSI, IRB, OCR, RDO, RMS

Sponsored by the Clinical & Translational
Science Institute (CTSI)